TO MY RELATIVES AND FRIENDS

TO MY RELATIVES AND FRIENDS

"The Groves were God's first temples. Ere man learned
To hew the shaft and lay the architrave,
And spread the roof above them;—in the darkling wood,
Amid the cool and silence, he knelt down,
And offered to the Mightiest solemn thanks
And supplication. "Why," then
Should we, in the world's riper years, neglect
God's ancient sanctuaries, and adore
Only among the crowd, and under roofs
That our frail hands have raised."

Preface

It has not been my purpose to attempt to give a detailed statement concerning the early history of the Swartz family, but rather to present only such facts and information as it has, in the allotted time, been possible to obtain. Nor have I attempted to give a detailed statement concerning the lives of those of later generations.

I have, however, attempted to give in this sketch, so far as was obtainable, a complete list of the names and addresses, dates of birth, marriages and deaths, together with occupations, of all of the descendants of John Frederick Swartz, who emigrated to America in 1831, and unless the information given me is incorrect, the list printed herein, includes the entire relationship up to date of printing.

I trust that the system of indexing I have used will be found sufficiently plain, so that each member of the Swartz family may be able to follow his ancestry, and at the same time know who his relatives are.

I also desire to acknowledge my indebtedness to Rev. John Born of Stony Ridge, Ohio, who furnished me with some of the information herein set forth.

I crave the courteous indulgence of all who may have occasion to peruse these pages, and trust that whatever of fault may be found in the plan and execution of this sketch, may be attributed to the enforced hurry of its preparation and lack of information.

ARTHUR A. SWARTZ.

Historical Sketch of the Swartz Family

At the time the first reunion of the Swartz family was held a historical sketch had been prepared and was read by Katie Swartz, it being a part of the program of that day's exercises.

Some desirable facts and information were then and have since that time not been available in spite of the fact that a careful search of the records of the Swartz family has been made in order to obtain them. What facts and information have, however, been obtained, are herein briefly presented.

We of this, and later generations would appreciate it had our fathers and ancestors left us a complete record to refer to at this and future times, but it may be presumed that they were too busy or that they gave no thought to family records and trees for future use.

Family reunions are with us a comparatively modern idea, and no doubt never were thought of by our ancestors, because reunions were not in vogue then. But even though the idea is modern, family gatherings are commendable. They serve to strengthen the family conscience and bring into closer touch the memories of the same flesh and blood, in short, lead to a more united family.

It has been only too true that many meet with their relatives and friends only upon occasions such as funerals or weddings. Why should not a day be set apart to give and do honor to our ancestry and progeny,—a day to think of our kindred with whom we are here to journey for but a short time.

If we could live forever here we would care nothing for each other. The fact that we must die brings our souls together and treads the weeds from out the paths between our hearts.

And so it may be, after all, that love is but a little flower that grows on the crumbling edge of the grave. So it may be that were it not for death there would be no love, and without love all life would be a curse.

It is well, too, whenever we meet, to draw attention to what has been done by our ancestors. It is well to think of them, and to thank them for all their work, for all their courage, and all their toil.

Scarcely two hundred years ago our country was a vast wilderness, inhabited by a few savages. Two hundred years! How short a time! Not even a tick of the great Clock of Eternity.

Educated by experience and in the university of hard knocks, by the rivers and forests, by the splendor and grandeur of Nature, our ancestors converted the then wilderness into productive fields, and we of today are the beneficiaries of their indomitable will and courage.

You ask, Was it worth their while? I answer, that, but for their unbounded and undaunted faith and heroism with which they looked into the future we could not be a part of what was destined to be the greatest country in the world today. Let it console us to know that even though we are but tiny organisms in a great physical universe, we are at least permitted to live in a country of peace and prosperity as against devastation, ruin, suffering, disease, and death, all co-partners in an awful carnage, which still prevails among countless families and homes across the mysterious sea.

But since the prime purpose of this sketch is not a eulogy on our ancestors, but rather a presentation of such facts and information of the Swartz family as has thus far been obtained, I shall proceed therewith as follows:—

The original home of the Swartz family, that is, the home of our ancestors of four generations ago, was in the Province of Würtemberg, Germany.

This statement seems reliable and authentic for it was taken from the church records of their home, and is further attested by the passport issued at the time of their emigration to this country, these two documents being now in the possession of Katie Swartz.

Strange as it may seem, the name of the pastor of the church home at Weidach who furnished a copy of the family register in 1831 was Schwarz.

Of the earliest of the Swartz family we have only the names. They are George Frederick Swartz, a farmer and weaver, who resided at Weidach, Würtemberg, Germany, and his wife Anna Catherine, whose maiden name was Beclin.

We are next able to trace with more accuracy the following generations, namely the history of the son of these parents. He was John Frederick Swartz, who was born November 23, 1790, at Echterdingen, and baptised the same day. His occupation was that of farming. On January 24, 1815, he was united in marriage with Anna Catherine Metzger, which marriage occurred at the church at Weidach. The bride's parents were John George Metzger, a farmer, of Hof, Württemberg, Germany, and his wife Barbara, whose maiden name was Schwarzin. This John Frederick was the first member of the family to emigrate to America. The passport issued by the Chief of the Interior, Griesinger, was dated March 24, 1831, and informs us that he left his homeland April 5, 1831, crossing the boundary of the Kingdom of Württemberg at Heimesheim and then going by way of Carlsruhe, Fort Lewis, Paris, and Havre De Grace, where he embarked for his future home, to America.

The passport gives his property or wealth at between $900.00 and $1000.00, or, in German terms, about 1800 gulden. At the time of his emigration he was described as follows: age 41 years, 5 feet 9 inches high, stout of stature, long face, healthy complexion, dark brown hair, gray eyes small mouth, rather poor teeth, and straight legged. This is not a substitute for a photograph but it may aid those of the Swartz family who have strong enough an imagination, to picture to themselves their first ancestor, who helped to determine their lot and home. If he had stayed in Württemberg, Stony Ridge, Ohio, and surrounding territory might have had a different complexion.

At the time of emigration there were six children in this family, three sons and three daughters. The eldest of these was John Frederick, who was eighteen years of age when he came to this country. Catherine, 13 years, Eva Barbara, who later became the wife of Daniel Snyder, age 10 years, Dorothy, who became Mrs. George Miller, Sr., 6 years, John George, who up to the time of his death resided on a farm in Webster Township, age 5 years, and John Jacob, who lived and died in Medina County, Ohio, age 2 years.

The family settled in Liverpool, Medina County, Ohio, at the time of their emigration. Here another son was born, namely, Lucian, who remained on the old farm after the balance of the family left that section, and who died at the age of 51 years.

From this point it shall be my purpose to separately trace the families of each of the above named seven children and their descendants, whose father, John Frederick Swartz, first emigrated to America in April, 1831, their names being as follows:

It is believed that all who are able to attend our reunion from year to year, will go to their respective homes, feeling, that each reunion day brings us into closer fellowship and friendship with each other.

Let it be hoped that by the will of a Divine Providence, we may, from year to year, be permitted to meet each other. Let us in the meantime, keep our souls young and sweet and beautiful, so that when we are called upon to surrender it to its Maker, we can then stand on the verge of that narrow Isthmus which separates the future from the past and connects eternity with time, and cast a last lingering look back upon that world to which we are sometime to bid adieu forever, and think, that we have done all that is good and noble and manly.

“Be it ours to meditate,
In these calm shades, His milder majesty.
And to the beautiful order of His works,
Learn to conform the order of our lives”
